

calibration

Canadian Instrumentation Services Group Ltd. (CISG) is an independent privately owned third party calibration laboratory performing calibration of electrical, dimensional and physical instrumentation with traceability to National Standards in accordance with ISO 9001-2008 and ISO17025.

QUALITY

Strategically located in south central Ontario, the CISG calibration laboratory offers complete services to assist companies in meeting their ISO requirements with respect to the calibration of their inspection, measuring and test equipment.

CISG is accredited to ISO17025-2005 for calibration by A2LA and registered by QMI/SAI Global as being in conformity with the ISO 9001-2008 Quality Standard.

SERVICE

The business' objective is to fully understand and satisfy the requirements of their customers and meet all expectations in terms of order turnaround and delivery. Adherence to the ISO 9001-2008 standard provides one of the strongest assurances of product and service quality available.

We provide full calibration service from our independent laboratory or through our on-site service at your facility.

PERSONAL TOUCH

With a history dating back to the early 1900's the CISG employees boast a combined skill experience of over 200 years in the calibration and repair field insuring top quality calibrations.
